

SOME PLACE NAMES IN ALBERTA

I have prepared from "Place-Names of Alberta," a publication issued in 1928 by the Geographic Board of Canada, the following list of place names in this part of Southern Alberta. I trust I will interest readers of "The Strathmore Standard." The name of our Town I have already discussed.

Many place names in Alberta are those of early settlers, first postmen, homesteaders and railway officials, thus honoured by their names, handed down to posterity. Many names are those of old country towns and old country people. Although a new country quite a number of the names go back one hundred years and more.

C. GEO. McCULLAGH'S LEADERSHIP LEAGUE "GONE WEST"

Opening about three months ago with a fanfare of pleasant sounding phrases—and promises of a new Union about to be ushered in—Mr. McCullagh, President and Publisher of the Toronto Globe and Mail, carried the cause of the "Gone West" radio broadcasts.

In this morning's Alberta we read—Mr. McCullagh's League Leadership League Offices—Reason—Lack of support.

The entire experience associated with the radio broadcasts and the formation of the Leadership League, amounting to approximately $75,000, were borne by the Globe and Mail. At a meeting on March 15, I turned the torch of the League over to the public, headed by Dr. H. A. Bruce, with the expectation that other prominent and public-spirited men would support the necessary organization work with their energy and money.

"Outside of a comparatively few, they failed in this regard, and of approximately $20,000 organization expenses in connection with the executive offices of the League, only some $10,000 have come from the public. The Globe and Mail and myself are paying this additional money rather than let the League become the tool of any interests which would convert it into something which I, its founder, never intended."

KING GEORGE SENDS LETTER OF APPRECIATION TO CANADIAN LEGION B.E.S.L.

One of the most notable features of my Canadian tour has been the appearance everywhere of large and well organized detachments of Veterans. It has always been a pleasure to me to see them, not only because of the prestige they give to the Canadian Legion, but also because of their presence has given me some opportunity of showing my high appreciation of their past services to their country.

I know well that the ideals that inspired them twenty years ago are still there, and that this fine body of men, who have never lost their comradeship and of service to the common good which was perhaps the highest legacy of the Great War.

The Queen and I send them our best wishes, and our sincere thanks for the very valuable work they did throughout Canada in connection with their visit.

DOMINION PRESIDENT CANADIAN LEGION SENDS MESSAGE

With the departure of Mr. MacGillivray and Queen from Halifax on June 15th, after their momentous and heart-warming visit to their Dominion of Canada and to the British Empire, I now desire to express my sincere thanks and keen appreciation for the truly magnificent manner in which all Commands and Branches of the Legion, both in Canada and the United States, participated in welcoming their Majesties. I was particularly impressed with the splendid manner in which many Legion Branches assisted in local arrangements, some travelling long distances to perform this service.

It is quite evident from the reports and press notices, I have received, that wherever their Majesties stopped, they were welcomed with the greatest respect, not only in the service men, but in behalf of school children and, in some instances, the general public. The World of Wheat

By H. G. L. Strange Director—The Crop Testing Plant

"How are we going to sell the surplus of wheat, honey, apples, butter and other products which are now a burden on the market in Canada?" This was the question put by Mayor Telford to the annual meeting of the Canadian Technical Agriculturists at Vancouver.

Some answered "We must reduce production to the smaller amounts we are now selling and, by marketing board controls, fix higher prices." Others said "Find industrial uses for these products." Still others thought "Help Canadian manufacturers to increase tariffs so as to stop foreign goods to come in, and then foreign countries will be able to buy our surplus of wheat and other agricultural products, which we know, on undeniable authority, foreign buyers badly need and would buy if they could."

"Besides which," the economists added "increased international trade leads to peace, and the present policy of restricted trade certainly leads straight to war."

Between 20 and 30 per cent of the world's wheat is produced in North America alone.

A Fallacy Exploded

Here is proof that should disprove conclusively the popular misconception that salt is harmful to the human system, that it causes hardening of the arteries, dilutes the natural lubricants of the body joints, and results in deposits of salt in the system, paving the way to rheumatic diseases. An article in the current issue of the Official magazine of Canadian Industries Limited, reports that scientific studies by physiologists in leading laboratories have proved conclusively that salt lost through perspiration must be replaced to restore the necessary balance, and the medical profession is in agreement that the use of sodium chloride, or common salt, either in lozenge form or as small compressed tablets, is a safe and successful method of counteracting or warding off the effects of excessive heat fatigue.

Prompted by the general belief that salt was harmful to the human system, Safety Engineering, an authoritative American magazine, recently conducted a survey among leading American medical authorities, and the following sentence sums up their combined opinions:—"Inasmuch, however, as the good that is done by salt tablets outweighs the conjectural harm that might occur to a very small number of people, the use of salt in hot industries, or hot weather should be encouraged."

PRECIPITATION MAP OF THE PRAIRIE PROVINCES

SHOWING PRECIPITATION FROM APRIL 1ST TO JUNE 30TH, 1939

AS COMPARED WITH THE AVERAGE OF 10 YEARS OR MORE

ALBERTA COMPILLED AND CHARTED BY SEARLE GRAIN COMPANY LIMITED

SEARLE RAINFALL MAP FROM APRIL 1st TO JUNE 30th, 1939

The map printed above shows the rainfall that has occurred over the three Prairie Provinces from April 1 to June 30, inclusive. On the whole it will be observed that the condition is excellent. South eastern Saskatchewan and central

Manitoba are the only large parts, it will be noted, that have less than normal amounts. Including the rains which fell last fall, with the precipitation revealed by this map, the total moisture condition for the three Prairie Provinces, as a unit, is now 11.6 per cent of normal as compared with only 9.5 per cent at the same time last year.

For Alberta the total condition is now 11.2 per cent; Saskatchewan 12.5 per cent, and Manitoba 8.5 per cent. Inasmuch as moisture available to the plant is the most important factor governing yield, it will be noted that the probabilities, as far as can be judged at this moment, are for at least a normal yield per acre.

PREMIER ABERHART
AND THE KING

IN the Premier's inordinate desire to capture the public notice during the royal visit to Edmonton he overstepped his official prerogative, and by so doing has brought upon himself much highly complimentary criticism and thereby has lost what prestige he had hoped to gain and what will be more vital at election time many votes and much influence that will be strongly diverted against him.

The Peace River Record in a stirring editorial repeats his efforts to "steal the show" from the legitimate party, the Lieutenant-Governor, and of the influence used by McKenzie King to overrule that portion of the entertainment in which the Premier had planned to have the King and Queen as private guests of himself and family for tea and of the Premier's chair in learning Lieutenant-Governor Bowen and Lady Bowen had been honored by being asked to be hosts at this private function.

This and other acts of a like nature, on ordinary occasions would prove extremely obnoxious but to attempt to put this over on such an occasion, when the guests bear in themselves an extremely refined sense of the fit and proper, and added to this the natural gift, the strictest training in observance of the rules of diplomacy and proper procedure, which the wearers of the Crown, because of his position must observe, made the obtrusive action of Premier Aberhart so much the more offensive.

This and several other acts of a like nature on June 2, have undoubtedly lost the Premier the fame he so much desired. The story of King and the Rose, re-narrated.

Now along comes his partner in electoral projects, Hon. W. D. Herridge seeking election in the seat now held by Premier Mackenzie King. There is certainly no law against such procedure, and the fact that it has never been done before in Canada, is really no reason for objecting to it. It is just another sample of a lack of the finer sensitiveness that would deter many and in past history has never been done.

BIRDS OF A FEATHER : PREMIER ABERHART AND
W. D. HERRIDGE

Premier Aberhart's characteristic agility is maintained in his leap to the new democratic nomination. With Social Credit collapsing under him during the past four years he must find something new. Hence his frantic leap. It was hoped that Premier Aberhart might at least have learned caution, and judgment in the past four years, but apparently he has learned nothing.

Working the people up to a fever over his impractical, impossible 25¢ a month bribe in 1935, he won an election. Utterly inexperienced and untried in matters of government and administration, he was misled and floundered, failing to institute in one single point his touted Social Credit. And in spite of this better experience, great move to win another election to leap to another "ism" propounded by a man as completely untried as Mr. Aberhart himself was in 1935. Mr. Herridge has had no administrative experience. There is not one evidence that in his life he has carried out one plan for the advancement of Canadian interests.

Yet he dares to command attention with more theories. And it is this other unproved impractical man, whom Premier Aberhart elects to follow. He must move from the trying pan into the fire, in stead of the last fortune by the experience of the last four years.

High River Times.

TRIBUTE TO
JAS. A. RICHARDSON
Dremer - Pioneer - Philanthropist

With that deep gripping sorrow, which for the moment makes the mind and heart oblivious to all else, Canadian people from the Pacific to the Atlantic learned of the sudden and unexpected death of Mr. James Richardson.

James Richardson was one of a small group of men—some of whom fortunately are still living and active—who are the rare and particular creation of our country which like Canada, teen with undeveloped natural resources.

James Richardson inherited wealth, and by investing hard work, by business ability, and particularly by sterling integrity, he greatly increased his fortune, and then he dreamed great dreams of how he could use that wealth to improve the lot of his fellow man and to advance the interests of his country.

James Richardson inherited a large wheat handling and exporting business; and his first, best and last love was wheat, and dearest of all to his heart was the desire to help the prairie wheat growers, by trying to make more of their wheat overseas, and by encouraging to win for them from buyers the highest possible price for their product. He took a keen interest in encouraging and in financing those who were attempting to develop ways and means of lowering costs of production; all so that prairie farmers might make more profits from their efforts.

James Richardson also had visions of the great benefits that might accrue to all from the opening up of the natural resources of our north country, and so he financed mines and sponsored Western Canada Airways— which afterwards developed into Canadian Airways— which made available freight, mail and passenger service by aeroplane to the north. His company was a pioneer in the carrying of mail by aeroplane across the Western prairies.

It would be difficult to assess the debt owing to him by those who today directly and indirectly profit from the steady stream of wealth flowing from northern mines and other resources. It is also unquestionably true to state that had it not been for James Richardson's air pioneering we might not yet be enjoying our existing fine airmail and air passenger transportation services.

Very dear to his heart, and most private with him, was the spiritual use for social purposes which he made of the wealth he had inherited and had later increased through his bold and courageous enterprises. Little of it did he use for his own benefit or comfort, excepting to drive himself relentlessly to make his dreams and visions come true, and this driving is what in the end overtaxed his heart in the full flower of his manhood.

With his keen enthusiasm and his money, he supported innumerable schemes which people brought to him, and he required only to be assured that the plans should have the object of creating additional employment for people, or of improving the living conditions of farmers and others. It has been said no man with anything like a worthy cause ever came away from James Richardson empty handed.

Considering his great vision, his dreams, his adventurous spirit, his pioneering and his wide activities, one cannot help but be struck by the similarity between James Richardson and another great man, who also dreamed.

RADIODIOPHONAS
AND NEWS
PUBLICITY DEPARTMENT CFACROYAL MICROPHONE AT CFAC
STAMPEDE STUDIO—

An added attraction at the special CFAC studio at the Calgary Exhibition and Stampede is a gold-plated microphone used by their Majesties during their recent tour of Canada and the United States. There were three of these microphones in all, one known to have been a "radio-shy" and the other two "radio-shy." They were all gold plated, and were used exclusively by their Majesties. The Canadian Broadcasting Corporation was kind enough to loan one of them for display on this occasion.

SUNDAY SERENADE—

Many peculiar problems are found only in radio. Things are seldom what they seem, and radio is no exception. It is full of "believable-nots." An example is one of the CFAC programs that has been on the air for some four years. It is the Sunday evening program, "Sunday Serenade," heard at seven thirty. It consists of music supplied by Cecil Kappes at the organ, and Margaret Barroch at the piano and songs sung by Wynne Laidlaw as well as the operator and announcer. That in itself is not amazing, many programs have more artists. But, in this case, every one of the five taking part is in a different place.

Cecil Kappes is at the console of the organ in the Palace Theatre. Wynne Laidlaw is halfway up the theatre aisle at the microphone. Margaret Barroch is playing in Studio A on the tenth floor of the Southern Building. The operator is in the Control Room, and the announcer is in Studio B on the roof of the Southern Building. And it's all done with mirrors— I mean earphones. Earphones are connected to radios, and each artist can hear the other as he goes along, and can follow the music as it is played. Actually, it is the same as accompanying other instruments in an orchestra, except that you hear them over the radio instead of having the instruments right beside you. It's quite simple, or is it?

RUTH CHATTERTON

Ruth Chatterton, movie star who returned recently from England where she appeared in "The Constant Wife" joins the cast of "Big Sister" programs over CFAC Mondays through Fridays. Hollywood is the scene of the dramas in which Miss Chatterton will appear as heroine. In the script, the actress is an old friend of Dr. John Wayne (played by Martin Gabel) who in turn introduces her to Big Sister's family and friends.

Miss Chatterton formerly was almost as well known for her flying ventures as for her acting. But she sold her plane before going to Europe and hasn't devoted any time to aviation since. Her stage career began in Washington when she was a little girl. One of her best known roles was as July Abbott in "Daddy Long Legs." In "The Little Minister," she played the part of Lady Habbie.

Although Miss Chatterton has been heard on the air before in guest appearances, this is the first time she has been engaged to appear regularly in a daytime dramatic series.

When Miss Chatterton visited CUS studios a few days before starting her broadcasts, she was particularly solicitous of Italia Stoddard who plays Little Sister, Sue Evans Miller. Poor Italia is suffering from a severe attack of poison ivy, contracted while picking flowers on her farm in New Hope, Pa.

HOLIDAYS START—

The holidays have started now. The first members of the CFAC staff to leave are Dick Trevelyan and Ken Hughes. It so happens they are both going to Vancouver, not together though.

Dick has been rubbing around getting things in order, so that his department will run smoothly while he is gone. He has everything pretty well under control now. As for his pet program "Looking on the Bright Side" is concerned, Dick has done a lot of very careful tutoring so that none of his many shut-in friends will be neglected during his absence.

Ken Hughes has made arrangements to look up all the "hans" (amateur radio operators) around the west coast. Ken has a set of his own. If you happen to be tuned to the shortwave band and hear the call letters WEXX, that will be our six foot six friend, Ken.

Both the boys are looking forward to this holiday and have painted in their minds beautiful pictures (through smoked glasses or sandy beaches and bathing suits, and coats of tan. Our guess is sunbath) of cool evenings in Stanley Park (if it doesn't rain), and picnics under the trees, (if the mosquitoes aren't too numerous), of boating and sailing (if the weather is calm), and pleasure for work again, and will dream of cruises on the steamers, (if the weather holidays next summer.

TRIBUTE TO

Noted his wealth and energies toward the advancement of his race and of his country, namely— Cecil Rhodes, Rhodes' diamond, Rhodes' gold, Rhodes' wheat, Rhodes' gold, Rhodes' nickel, Rhodes' feverish and peristent efforts to open up northern Africa for England by telegraph and railroad, Rhodes' similar efforts to open up our north for Canada by telegraph, Rhodes' love of education and his endorsement of Universities, Rhodes' support of worthy enterprises in South Africa, Rhodes' support of similar enterprises in Canada, Rhodes' great public munificence, charities and support of the Church,
Rhodes' gifts of the same order.
And so we find a striking parallel between these two great men, each of whom devoted his wealth and his efforts to the improvement of the country in which he lived.

The farmers of our prairies, and the people of the whole of Canada, are better off because James Richardson lived and worked and dreamed and planned, and "There will never come an end to the great good which he did."

Scout Notes

CANADIAN YOUTH WILL MEASURE TO ITS RESPONSIBILITIES

Scout David Beatty

You know the progress we have made,
and are making in Scouting.

It is steady, definite and wholesome.

I have often stated that the Boy Scout Association represents the finest movement of its kind in the world today, and I sometimes wonder if the sentiments so often expressed of pity and sympathy for the youth of this country are wise, or warranted.

This country does not need to apologize for its youth.

We of the older generation are convinced that, in the main, our younger generation are deserving both of our respect and our confidence. In intelligence, in the appreciation of their obligations, and in their self-reliance they compare very favourably with any previous generation.

I like the practical idealism which is so typical of the mental attitude of our young men and women and like you, I refuse to think that they will not measure up to their responsibility in a way which will merit and receive the admiration and respect of future generations. The fibre and the principles are there, and the principles and practices of the Boy Scouts constitute an asset of which the people of this Dominion are definitely conscious.

—Sir Edward Beatty, at the Annual Montreal Patrol Leaders Banquet.
